

Carbon offsets are a fast and simple way to make real progress toward your sustainability goals.

One carbon offset is equivalent to removing one metric ton of carbon dioxide, or CO2 equivalent, from the atmosphere. By purchasing carbon offsets, you'll contribute to projects that negate or diminish greenhouse gas emissions, therefore counteracting the emissions of your business.

Carbon offsets from Direct Energy Renewable Services allows you to bundle carbon offsets with your natural gas supply purchases, offsetting up to 100 percent of your greenhouse gas emissions.

As a result, your organization can:

Reduce its carbon emissions associated with natural gas consumption

Support sustainable solutions and projects in North America

Position itself as a leader in environmental stewardship

Achieve a competitive advantage by tackling "green" operational and supply chain mandates

Generate good will and heighten brand awareness with your customers

Reduce your carbon footprint with carbon offsets.

One carbon offset is equivalent to removing one metric ton of carbon dioxide, or CO2 equivalent, from the atmosphere.

By purchasing carbon offsets, you'll contribute to projects that negate or diminish greenhouse gas emissions, therefore counteracting the emissions of your business. Projects range from the development of renewable energy generation and energy efficiency technologies to agricultural and reforestation initiatives.

If you purchase enough carbon offsets to balance all of your emissions remaining after reduction efforts, your net emissions will be zero. This is often referred to as becoming "carbon neutral".

- Simple way to offset greenhouse gas emissions
- A bridge to longer-term carbon reduction efforts
- Support carbon reduction projects here in North America
